

Turat

A Turat was a friendly animal with the body of a turtle and bat ears, bat wings and whiskers but the Atlantians didn't like the Turat very much because the favourite food were Ruckles. The Turat also ate fish, jellyfish and seagrass. It could grow to a length of 1 meter and some of them became even bigger. The Turat was a very good swimmer and flyer and lived in the sea around Atlantis. It liked to live in holes. The Turat could hear a noise from hundred kilometers and its green shell was the hardest in Atlantis. Its big wings were red orange or yellow stripes and it could see at night. It was a very beautiful animal.
